

Level 1 Gameplay

Puzzle

The city's main way to travel, the portals, are malfunctioning! Figure out how to leave the city. You can either collect all the engineers and get them to fix the portal or, if you're lucky, the broken portal will take you to the correct location. You can leave without saving the engineers, but this action will have consequences.

Characters

Silverfish

Fishing using a piece of cloth they found. Messing with the bedbug who wants to eat the cloth.

Bedbug

Jumping to try and get a piece of cloth on a string, never able to reach.

Flour Beetle

A baker, very upset that they can't deliver his pastries because of the malfunctioning portals.

Roly Poly

Engineers, one is near the portal entrance, the rest are lost inside the portal system.

Trades/Influences/Connections

You can convince the bed bug to act tired and stop trying to get the cloth. The silverfish will get bored and let you have the cloth. You can then give the bedbug the cloth. The bedbug will reveal that they once ate a cloth of this color when they were very young; it was so delicious that they've been searching for another ever since. If you find it, he will give you a special item.

The engineer near the portal will mention that the lead is absent. They've been missing the past three days. Weird things have been happening ever since. They tried to fix the portal by themselves, but engineers kept getting lost inside the system.
